This will be the last newsletter that I will send home this year! It is amazing how fast the school year has gone. I have thoroughly enjoyed my days with your amazing children and I thank you for the opportunity to help your son/daughter grow academically and spiritually. You should be proud of the progress they have made in second grade! I encourage you to continue to read and practice math facts over the summer. This is important so that they don't forget what they have learned so far. Have a great summer and God's blessings!

*If you have not done so already, please bring in $6 for Divino's.

Literacy

This week we started our ant unit. We learned about their body parts and how intricate their anthills are. Although small creatures, with teamwork, they can be very destructive and incredibly strong. While learning about ants, we practiced locating the main idea and details within a text.

Math

Various graphs, charts, and line plots were practiced this week. We constructed several of our own graphs.

OVER

Religion

This week our focus continued to be about Paul. (Paul's Nephew Saves His Life, and Paul is Shipwrecked) In these three stories we see how Paul dedicates his life to spreading God's Good News to the people of Philippi and Rome. During this period travel by ship was very risky and God made sure that Paul and Silas and Paul's nephew were safe through all their voyages.

Art

We use up some of our scrap paper and decorated kites.
